In Safe Hands

At Sign Plus Limited we have always ensured that our clients are offered the quality, service and value that they deserve.

We are proud to announce that we have recently acquired the SAFEcontractor Safety Assessment Accreditation to add to our existing Facility Quality Management (FQM) certification.

SAFEcontractor is the fastest growing Health & Safety accreditation scheme in the UK, with more than 140 major clients and almost 18,000 contractor members

This certification highlights our ability to manufacture, install and maintain signage to approved standards.

To ensure your services are of the highest quality why not check out if your suppliers are approved SAFEcontractors?

Dunfermline Delivers

With a recent focus being on the improvement of the Dunfermline Town Centre, there was a unanimous vote to introduce a BID's scheme (Business Improvement District). This in turn will allow for a business led project that is defined in a geographical location. Under this arrangement local organisations have the power to raise funds locally to be spent locally, with the aim of strengthening their own trading environment.

As a result Sign Plus are offering all businesses that fall into the Dunfermline BID's area a procurement deal. The offer will not only consist of a price matching system but also a reduced rate on any competitors quote, based on a like for like basis.

Sign Plus are determined to play their part to help improve the Dunfermline town centre and are offering full support behind any businesses that fall within the BIDs catchment area.

FMC Technologies

Let there be light

When your sign project demands something with a little more presence, an aluminium sign tray is an affordable and attractive option. Sign Trays are manufactured to order using the latest folding technology. For a greater visual impact why not combine two or more trays of different shapes? To further enhance the three-dimensional effect you may combine trays of differing depths or turn your sign tray into a very effective light box.

FMC approached Sign Plus with the task of revamping their reception and welcome signage when they were making alterations in this area of their building. The effect is great whether it is night or day. This sign tray was fabricated with powder coated aluminium panels complete with 10mm opal push through text lit from behind.

These signs can come in any size and style required and the possibilities are endless. Our sales staff would be delighted to discuss your particular project so please feel free to give them a call.

Richard F Mackay

As your first point of contact with your potential customers it is important that anything on the scale of a large lorry or other commercial vehicle portrays your unique brand image correctly

At Sign Plus we can offer you a complete package from reproducing your existing vehicle liveries across new vehicle fleets, to designing new livery from scratch.

Our latest heavy commercial vehicle that required a livery was from the Edinburgh based family run business called Richard F Mackay, who have been trading successfully for over 75 years now. This 7.5t vehicle needed to be clean, clear and simple to read for the thousands of potential customers that will view this vehicle on a day to day basis, and consists of full colour graphics sides, front and rear.

Abbey Church of Dunfermline

This year marks the 450th anniversary of the Scottish Reformation. To commemorate this milestone in our history an Elder of the Abbey Church of Dunfermline has gifted to the church two ministerial boards listing all the ministers of the Abbey Church since the reformation.

Sign Plus were commissioned to design and fit the oak panels, bearing the Abbey Church Coat of Arms, on the rear (west) walls and these were unveiled to the congregation on the last Sunday in February when they were much admired and are a very welcome and valuable addition to the fabric of this historic building. The boards were formally dedicated on Sunday 14 March.

Edinburgh University

Engraving is the process of marking various materials by removing (routing) the top surface with a rotary engraver or by burning out the top surface with a laser engraver. It is ideal for commemorative plaques and long term identification signage on prestigious buildings.

Sign Plus have recently been working alongside Edinburgh University to manufacture a 3mm dull polished stainless steel plaque for the opening of the HRH Prince Alwaleed Bin Talal Centre. This provided a strong proclamation on the day of the official opening, of the 17th March 2010.

Signage That Works For You!!

Consumers pass countless signs throughout their day, whether driving down the motorway on the way to work or strolling down the aisle at the local supermarket. Permanent fixtures in everyday life, signs have the power to draw customers in...or turn them away.

The basic purpose of any sign is to direct, inform or promote, but what many retailers may not know is that signs and graphics are one of the most affordable and powerful ways to build awareness for their business and products. The signs a retailer decides to utilize can convey to prospective customers the quality of the products and the image of the company, all while adding a touch of personality.

Many consumer stops are made on impulse. This is in part prompted by the retailer's signs and how well they reinforce what the consumer may or may not already know about the business. Reports show that signs are the primary way that newcomers become aware of a business.

From large format banners, full colour posters and moveable banner stands to attractive window graphics and attention-grabbing vehicle signage, clients should consider the opportunities available by incorporating signs and graphics into their overall marketing and advertising plans.

Allow Sign Plus to make signage that works for you!
